Dear Sirs,

Re : Lot No.559 in DD 131

We refer to your letter dated 6 August 2012.

2. In the first place, we would repeat our position that in the absence of the government lease, it is not open to Government to make the assumption that the above lot is subject to the terms and conditions as stated in GN No.278 of 1911.

3. In response to your proposition that "human remains" would include "ashes from burning of a human body, and ashes from cremation are no less to be regarded as human remains", our client has been advised that "human remains" does not include cremated human ashes for the following reasons :-

- 3.1 As a matter of plain English, "remains" in the context of "human remains" means what is left behind in a passive state after a natural process of organic decomposition of the human body over time, mainly by bacterial actions, without any human or artificial intervention to accelerate the process. On the other hand, production of cremated ashes from the human body requires active human intervention by a process of combustion.

- 3.2 Human remains will retain a significant part of human characteristics. For instance, human identity may still be traceable by laboratory examination of the DNA of the human remains. However, upon reduction of cremated human body to ashes after the process of cremation, no human characteristics may be traceable. The end product of cremation is inorganic substances, essentially indistinguishable visually or by chemical composition as to whether they are of human or animal origin. Indeed, being inorganic substances, cremated ashes may not even have any evidence of the pre-existing life form from which they are derived.
- 3.3 When Special Condition No.5 in GN 278 ("Special Condition No.5") was introduced in 1911, earth burials in grave or deposits of human remains in earthenware above ground were already prevalent in the New Territories, which Special Condition No.5 was no doubt designed to address. In stark contrast, there were hardly known instances of cremation of human bodies then. Cremated ashes being inorganic substances, their interment or deposit will not give rise to hygienic or sanitation problem. Hence, it is highly unlikely that they came under the purview of Special Condition No.5.
4. In the circumstances, we do believe that the warning of re-entry action given in your letter under reply is premature. In order to establish the right of re-entry, there are at least the following two hurdles for Government to surmount :-
- 4.1 As a matter of fact, to adduce satisfactory evidence to prove that Special Condition No.5 applies to the lot.
- 4.2 As a matter of law, to establish that the meaning of "human remains" in Special Condition No.5 includes cremated human ashes.
5. We are instructed by our client that it will vigorously challenge both two issues of law and fact as above stated. Should you still consider re-entry action as an ultimate measure of lease enforcement notwithstanding our foregoing submission, we would respectfully suggest that the Court be invited to rule on these two issues as part of the way forward.
6. Looking forward to hearing from you in reply.

Yours faithfully,

Dear Sirs,

Lot No. 559 in D.D. 131

I refer to your letters to the District Lands Office, Tuen Mun dated 25 August 2010, 24 September 2010 and 21 February 2011 respectively, which have been passed to me with instructions to reply.

Lot No. 559 in D.D. 131 (hereinafter referred to as "Lot No. 559") was sold by auction, notice of which was published in G.N. S. 76 of 1918, subject to the General Conditions in G.N. 365 of 1906 and Special Condition No. 5 in G.N. 278 of 1911.

Special Condition No. 5 in G.N. 278 of 1911 (hereinafter referred to as "Special Condition No. 5") provides that "Without the consent of the District Officer no grave shall be made on, nor shall any human remains be interred in, or deposited on the land sold either in earthenware jars or otherwise, and a covenant to this effect shall be inserted in the Crown Lease of the Lot."

Our interpretation of "human remains" would include ashes from the burning of a human body. Ashes from cremation are no less to be regarded as human remains. Any operation involving deposit or storage of human remains will amount to a breach of Special Condition No. 5.

For the reasons stated aforesaid, it is the Government's position that your client's operation of niches/columbarium on Lot No. 559, if any, is prohibited and amounts to a breach of the lease.

I hereby give your client a warning that if Lot No. 559 is found to be used as columbarium in breach of Special Condition No. 5, lease enforcement action, including but not limited to re-entry action, will be taken against your client without further notice.

All rights of the Government under the lease conditions governing Lot No. 559 are hereby reserved.

Yours faithfully,

(Y. K. WONG)

Lot No.559 in DD 131

We refer to your letter in Chinese dated 12/1/2011 addressed to 青雲觀又名青雲觀堂 (Tsing Wan Kun also known as T'ong Tsing Wan Kun).

Your letter was still sent to the address 新界屯門利發徑 6 號 H 座 2 樓, notwithstanding that our firm have already been in correspondence with you on the same subject matter since 25/8/2010. We would request you to send all your future correspondence to our firm, as the legal representative of Tsing Wan Kun (also known as T'ong Tsing Wan Kun), and their 2 registered managers, from now on.

It is noted that nearly all what you purported in your letter was already set out in your letter dated 23/7/2010, and was, in our view, already well responded to in our 2 letters to you dated 25/8/2010 and 24/9/2010.

The only bit novel perhaps is the first sentence of paragraph 2 of your letter, which reads : “本處正審議和研究相關土地契約中的用途限制條文。” But then, as we have already pointed out in our letter of 24/9/2010, the government lease governing the above lot has long been missing. As we do not anticipate that a copy of the Government lease would somehow become available now, we can only assume that what you actually meant was that your office was examining the Special Condition No.5 published in GN No.278 of 1911.

We would emphasize that in the absence of the lease document, it is not open to Government to make the assumption that the above lot is subject to the terms and conditions as stated in GN No.278.

We would also reiterate our view that the term “human remains” does not include “cremated ashes”.

Dear Sirs,

Re : Lot No.559 in DD 131

Further to our earlier letter dated 25 August 2010 to you, we wish to draw your particular attention to and emphasize the fact that the government lease governing the above lot has long been missing. This is clear from the Remarks in the Land Register of the above lot. The relevant part of the Remarks is reproduced below for ease of reference :

"Remarks : The Lot is held under New Grant No.2714 registered in the Tui Po Land Registry Lease Term, its date of commencement and rent cannot be ascertained from New Grant"

In the absence of the lease document, it is not open to Government to make the assumption that the above lot is subject to the terms and conditions as stated in GN No.278.

Dear Sirs,

Re : Lot No.559 in DD 131

We have instructions from the registered managers of T'ong Tsing Wan Kun (青雲觀堂) to act for them in connection with your letter addressed to the T'ong dated 23 July 2010.

Even assuming that Special Condition No.5 of GN No.278 of 1911 is applicable to the above lot (which we do not admit), we do not accept your assertion that columbarium use is not permitted by virtue of that Special Condition No.5. We see the following question of law raised : whether cremated ashes are human remains within the meaning of Special Condition No.5 of GN No.278 of 1911?

We are of the view that the term "human remains" does not include "cremated ashes".

Dear Sirs,

Lot No. 559 in D.D. 131

I write to inform you that I have reason to believe that Lot No. 559 in D.D. 131 ("the Lot") is being prepared for columbarium use.

Please be advised that columbarium use is not permitted by virtue of Special Condition No. 5 published in G.N. No. 278 of 1911 governing the Lot which expressly provides that "Without the consent of the District Officer no grave shall be made on, nor shall any human remains be interred in, or deposited on the land sold either in earthenware jars or otherwise," If the Lot is found to be used as columbarium in breach of the lease conditions, Government will take immediate lease enforcement action against you including but not limited to re-entry action under the Government Rights (Re-entry and Vesting Remedies) Ordinance, Cap. 126.

All rights of the Government under the relevant land grant or otherwise are hereby expressly reserved.

Yours faithfully,
